The Weingart Center Association (WCA) transforms lives by providing high-quality human services to homeless men and women, giving them hope and the tools needed to lead productive lives off the streets.

Founded in 1983 as a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization located in the heart of downtown Los Angeles' Skid Row, WCA offers transitional and emergency housing, and helps individuals address the daily personal challenges they face by giving them the basic skills necessary to stabilize their lives, secure income and find permanent housing.

"The Weingart Center Association helped me to get my life back."

As one of the largest and most comprehensive facilities of its kind in the U.S., WCA partners and collaborates with a multitude of public and private agencies, maximizing strengths and expertise, to provide on-site services in these areas:

- Transitional Residential Housing
- Substance Abuse Recovery
- Education
- Medical and Mental Health
- Long Term Case Management
- Employment

The Weingart Center Association:

- Serves and assists men and women, veterans, people on parole, HIV patients and at-risk families

- Offers computer and internet access to participants for performing job searches and posting resumes
- Gives professional attire to participants who are going on job interviews and appointments, and starting work
- Has general education courses in: reading, math, life skills, art, dance and ESL
- Teaches participants job search skills and interviewing techniques, and gives referrals to vocational training programs
- Uses 82% of all funds raised for services and programs for our participants
- Occupies almost 175,000 square feet of space in its four facilities and administrative building
